The University of Toronto has a long history of testing the limits of what can be done. And today, we're breaking new ground by bringing together bold and passionate thinkers from every conceivable background and discipline to collaborate on the world's toughest problems.

Defy Gravity: The Campaign for the University of Toronto will fuel this vital work and help address some of the biggest challenges facing our city, country, and planet as we rebuild from the COVID-19 pandemic and confront this age of climate change, inequality, and mass technological disruption.

With our commitment to excellence and inclusion and our expertise across a broad range of disciplines, U of T is uniquely suited to tackle complex social, economic, and health issues at scale. With your support and the engagement of more than 640,000 alumni around the world, we have a rare opportunity to inspire the next generation of problem-solvers and shape a more just, sustainable, and healthy future for everyone.
